Council questions effectiveness of community policing

by Susan Grober

The hype is over, and the new community policing office was built right on schedule.

So why is the door always locked?

That's the question asked at last Wednesday's meeting of Minden Council. And the answer from the Community Policing Committee chairman is that the building has been in use on a regular basis.

This summer, members of the local Kinsmen Club, and other volunteers, pitched in to construct a building to house a community police officer.

The office, situated beside the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, is meant to help deter crime by providing a visible presence for a police officer in the village.

However, last week Reeve Bern Berry asked fellow council members about the officer, Constable Mark McMaster: "Does he appear to be visible?"

Councillor Verne Graham said he has been visiting the office on a regular basis since it opened.

"On July first, I went to the office, and it was open. So I spoke to the constable in charge," said Graham.

"Since that time, I go to the door three or four times weekly. It wasn't until September 8 that I again had access to the office.

"I'm not saying they were never there," said Graham. "They just weren't there when I was."

Berry asked Councillor Lewis Stevens, who sits on the Community Policing Committee, whether the building is being utilized.

"I don't see it being used to the extent we expected, said Stevens. "We've had one meeting since it opened."

Stevens suggested council contact committee chairman Doug Campbell and Minden OPP Staff Sergeant Bill Elliott, and question them about use of the building.

"We put a lot of top effort into its erection, so we should see it lives up to the expectations," said Stevens.

Berry recalled a moment at the opening of the building, when the OPP staff inspector said, "It's in our hands now." Since it is in their hands, I think we have to encourage them to act," said Berry.

Contacted by The Times on Friday, Campbell said things have been slow this time of year. The problem is, because many people have been on vacation, it's difficult to bring all the committee members together.

Campbell provided some insight on the committee, and its role in community policing.

"The role of the committee is to interface with the community and try and have their individual concerns addressed through community policing," he said.

The committee members, who make up a cross-section of the community, are: Campbell, McMaster, Gord Monk, Laurie Burnfield, Shirley Walker, Jerry Jordan, Jay Garbutt, Jay Kerr-Wilson, and council representative Lewis Stevens.

Campbell also hopes to add a member of the clergy to the committee, which now has representatives from different walks of life, including business, and a wide-range of age groups.

There have been two meetings of the committee since its inception, and Campbell hopes for another this week where Constable McMaster will give his perspective on the job of a community police officer. "He'll tell us the process of what happens once he lays a charge," said Campbell.

Next, Campbell wants to speak to the Rotary Club. And he will recommend that at least three or four focus groups be held, to find out the concerns of people such as the elderly, youth, families with school-age children, and business people.

"Then we prioritize the information, and point out what citizens are looking for, and address the concerns we've identified.

Private Brannigan

Mabel Brannigan was thrilled to receive a bouquet of carnations from Supply Officer Joey Allaire during last Saturday's official opening of Camp Brannigan, a training and camp ground to be used by the 1129 Army Cadet Corps of Haliburton County. For story and more photos, see page five.

Berry to blast MPP on issues

by Susan Grober

Minden's reeve feels the county will eventually lose all local court services, and that MPP Dennis Drainville is doing little to stop it.

"I'm deeply disappointed in him," Reeve Bern Berry said of Drainville at last Thursday's council meeting.

Berry pointed out that Drainville is busy with his role in the legislature as Chair of the Confederation Committee, Parliamentary Assistant to Municipal Affairs, and caucus chairman.

"I question whether he's serving Haliburton County," Berry said.

Berry objects to a cut in court services which forces many local people to travel to Lindsay for court appearances.

Court used to be held in council chambers each Wednesday, but now it's only held every other Wednesday.

"I feel that we are going to lose the services of a court system in Haliburton County, unless we can bring them back," said Berry. "Unfortunately, we're receiving no assistance from our MPP."

Berry expressed his concerns while council was discussing a change in the local legal aid office operation, which is now on Wednesday instead of Friday.

He feels this change could be another small step toward the county losing court services altogether.

"I don't know what more can be done, except screaming and letter writing, which I have been doing, to no avail."

Berry said Drainville has been asked to attend council to address this problem, as well as other matters such as lack of chronic care in the county, and the fact that there is no increase in services at the registry office.

"But he never attended because of prior engagements," Berry said. Drainville is expected to attend this Wednesday's county council meeting on behalf of the Chamber of Commerce, which will shut its office at the end of this month because of lack of funding.

"It appears to me that Mr. Drainville acts more on confrontation, rather than the concerns of the people of Haliburton County," said Berry.

"At the meeting I intend, in my own clumsy way, to talk to Mr. Berry."

Judy Stevenson honoured at birthday party

by Susan Grober

Judy Stevenson was pleasantly surprised at the great turnout for a birthday dinner held in her honour at the cultural centre last Wednesday by members of the Minden Calorie Counters group.

Although her actual birthday is October 4, Stevenson will be in Baltimore, Maryland at that time after having undergone two operations to relieve her severe osteoporosis.

The money to pay for the operations, which will cost Stevenson $4,500 in US money, was raised by members of the community who pitched in with donations.

Stevenson was originally scheduled to have the operation in October.

But the date was moved up, and she leaves for the United States this week to have her first operation on Friday, September 20.

She won't go alone, however, because members of the club pitched-in to purchase a cuddly teddy bear, as well as a number of other presents for her to open each day she is in hospital.

OLD FASHIONED SERVICE IS A PRICELESS COMPONENT OF EVERYTHING WE SELL

Community policing hours to increase

"But this isn't going to happen overnight," said Campbell.

"Just because you build a building, doesn't mean you've got a full-fledged police force on your hands."

It is up to the OPP to determine which officers are involved in community policing, and what hours the building will be open.

Because there are only 23 constables and three sergeants (one for each shift) at the Minden detachment, it would be impossible to have a community police officer on duty at all hours.

However, two more constables, Brian Brattengeier and Brian Dunham, have been assigned to share McMaster's beat.

"I think there have been some very high expectations, with people expecting a whole battalion of policemen walking the streets. But that's not going to happen," said Campbell. "They can't create policemen."

Campbell said he has heard many favourable comments on how things are much quieter since community policing was introduced.

"We don't know how many times it has helped, but it seems to have a positive effect."

The basic thrust of the program is for the police officers to develop a feeling of trust with citizens, he said.

"It's a prevention mode, rather than a catch-them-and-punish-them-after-the-fact mode."

Campbell also said the building has been utilized by different police officers, even though many have been on vacation, or off investigating other matters.

Last week, Constable Brattengeier was in the building on Monday and Tuesday, and Constable McMaster was in on the evenings of Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday, he said to provide an example.

"I see it happen, and I'm not even downtown that much."

Now that the busy summer season is over, the committee will be able to crack down on the project by getting out into the community, and finding out people's concerns, said Campbell.

"But still, I don't think you're going to see a whole host of toy soldiers marching up and down the street," he warned.

Council's concerns arose during a discussion over the initial $185.83 bill from Bell Canada. Berry pointed out that the bill included cost for installation of the services, including call waiting, and that future bills won't be as high.

The township pays for the phone services and long distance phone calls, as well as hydro, and a share of the original cost of the building.

Construction of the building was a bit more than $30,000 in total. However, because so many volunteers provided manpower and materials, the township's share was only about $10,500, says Campbell.

The OPP provide the officers, car and communication equipment, furniture, cleaning and upkeep.

Drive helps feed the needy

Community donates food and money to Minden Food Cupboard

Reverend Brian Parker and Gwen Hewitt are thrilled with the positive response to the latest drive for the Minden Food Cupboard, which is run out of St. Paul's Anglican Church, but serves anyone who is in need.

by Susan Grober

The cupboard was bare.

But members of the Minden community have pulled together to contribute about 370 pounds of food, and $125 in monetary donations, toward the Minden Food Cupboard.

Through the recent Canadian Union of Public Employees (CUPE) Food Drive, bins for donations of food and non-perishable items were placed at Dollo's IGA, Easton's Valumart, and the Minden Legion. Jars for cash donations were at Minden's Legion, IDA, hospital, and beer store.

The Minden Food Cupboard is run out of St. Paul's Anglican Church, but serves anyone in need.

Although there are steady donations to the cupboard, Reverend Brian Parker says the cupboard was empty when CUPE began the drive.

"It was bare, absolutely bare," he says. "It was embarrassing when people came for help."

The drive was the second organized by Gwen Hewitt, President, CUPE Local 2787 Minden Hospital.

It's Hewitt's responsibility to chair committees as president of CUPE. But she also instigated the initial food drive last March because of her personal beliefs.

"It's an embarrassment to this country that we have these people who are in need, when we are supposedly a land of opportunity," she says.

Hewitt feels the government doesn't do enough to help the plight of the hungry, especially in this time of recession.

"There's a problem, and we choose to ignore it," she says. "It's not a shame to be hungry, but it's a shame to do nothing about the problem."

Hewitt says summer is the perfect time for a food drive.

"Money's a little more plentiful now — expenses are less, because heating bills are down, and many people have gardens, so their grocery bills are lower."

Because of the mail strike, which meant many people didn't receive their government cheques on time, Hewitt extended the food drive by a week.

And, although less money was donated, there was definitely more food given during this drive than the one held in March, she says.

Since local food drives are usually held during the Christmas season, many don't realize that the demand for a food bank is year-round.

Hewitt already has plans in the works for another drive for Thanksgiving.

The demand for food and money is constant, so Reverend Parker is grateful to Hewitt for her work in organizing the drive.

Those who use the service come from all walks of life, "all the way from age 16 and up," he says.

The food bank is run by the ladies of the church and Reverend Parker, who ascertains the needs of the clientele before providing them with food and money.

People are referred to the service by any number of ways and means, including the welfare office, health care workers, police, and through newspaper articles.

"It's a community food bank," stresses the reverend. "Not just St. Paul's. Other churches also contribute to it. We just provide the space."

Many young families use the food bank to round out (more on page 9)

Happy Campers

1129th Royal Canadian Army Cadets now have a local place to set up camp

by Susan Grober

Dressed in olive green army fatigues, Mabel Brannigan proudly snipped the ribbon last Saturday to officially open the 1129th Royal Canadian Army Cadets' new training and camp ground, Camp Brannigan.

"I'm really honoured," said Brannigan, Past-President of the Royal Canadian Legion Branch 129. "I think it's the nicest thing that's happened in my life."

The 100-acres of property off Highway 121 was provided by Bruce Harris, who allowed the cadets to set up a permanent camping facility.

"I gives us a spot where we can camp out regularly," said Commanding Officer, Captain Denis Allaire. "We used to go out all over the place, and we'll still go on field trips. But now we don't always have to dig a hole in the ground for a washroom facility every time we camp out."

The camp has water and hydro, picnic tables, a covered dining area, space to pitch tents, access to firewood, plus a permanent outhouse, which is appropriately painted in camouflage shades of green.

Also, an obstacle course was set up by some of the older cadets, under the supervision of officers.

Brannigan was modest about the distinction of having the training camp named after her, and said she wasn't quite sure she deserved the tribute.

"I really don't feel I've done anything," she said. "It's what they've done for me — keeping me from getting bored. It's good to spend a couple of hours a week with young people."

Brannigan finds great fulfillment in working with the cadets, and she feels they get the same satisfaction through their involvement in the group.

"It's not what you do for the young people, it's what they do for you that's important," she said.

"If they look for something like this, instead of pills rescue training by Sgt. Art Gourd of the Minden OPP.

"There will be various pieces of clothing and things in the bush that the kids will find," said Allaire.

Many of the cadets took part in a massive water pistol war on Saturday afternoon. And Allaire got hold of 30 glow sticks for them to use in the evening.

The camp will be used for about 10 per cent of the cadets' or booze, it's much better for them."

Sixteen sea cadets and two officers from the Royal Canadian Legion Coboconk Branch 519 turned out for the opening, and camped out for the weekend along with 28 cadets and four officers from the local corps.

Activities included an obstacle race, and search and training. The cadets camp out four times a year on weekends, and also do day-time activities such as snowshoeing.

"We try to teach them how to build fires, and survive in the woods," Allaire said.

Cadets meet every Monday, from 6:45 to 9 p.m. Recent registration has brought the number of local cadets to 42, but Allaire's goal is to have 60.

"It's coming along well," he said. "I think we'll meet that number."

Any boys or girls, aged 12 to 18, interested in recruiting can phone 286-4006 or 286-3540. And it's free, Allaire stresses.

"It gives us a spot where we can camp out regularly," says Army Cadet Commanding Officer, Captain Denis Allaire.

A time to listen

Blame it on a breakdown in communications, or perhaps its the result of exaggerated expectations, but judging by comments this past week at the Anson, Hindon and Minden municipal council meeting, the objectives of the newly introduced community policing service need to be examined, again. The members of the council danced lightly around the issue, without coming down hard on the newly created approach to protecting the community. While coming up short of charging that the system is not working, the councillors expressed concern over the apparent lack of visibility of a police officer on the village's downtown streets.

When the idea of community policing was first proposed, rightly or wrongly, it was anticipated that a greater police presence would be the end result. According to the councillors, that does not seem to be the case.

The council may indeed be reflecting the observations of others in the downtown core. Since the office was opened earlier this summer, there have been rumblings that the building is little used and the increased visibility has not materialized. This could be the result of problems related with the introduction of a new service and, as we stated earlier, misguided expectation on the part of the business community.

Wherever the problems lie, they need to be confronted as quickly as possible. The busy summer season is now behind us, everyone has a little more time to deal with routine matters. There is time now for the community policing committee to fully explain the services being offered by the new program and to hear the concerns of those in the village who feel the service is not meeting their expectations. The main strength of community policing is the strong lines of communications established between the authorities and those served. The opportunity to strengthen those lines is here now. It would be a shame to let it pass, without building on it.

Nothing comes between a man and his smokes

A small smouldering excerpt from a letter to the columnist:

Guess which of these groups are non-smokers:

(A) Adolph Hitler, Saddam Hussein, Richard Nixon, Idi Amin, Jim and Tammy Faye Bakker.

(B) Farley Mowat, Monsignor Athol Murray, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, Winston Churchill, Mark Twain.

Ah the sharp, plaintive cry of an endangered, one could almost say extinguished, species—the yellow-taloned nicotine sucker. I know the critters well, and this one in particular. He is Walt Humphries, an amiable, artistic and thoughtful prospector up Yellowknife way. Walt's a perfect gentleman. With emphasis on the 'gentle'.

Black 'n White

Until you come between him and his smokes, that is. Then Walt exhibits all the affability of a beesting grizzly. "In the past four years my tobacco costs have risen from $8 to $35 a tin — just ask me how p—d off I am."

Walt's fuming — and who can blame him? Smokers are polite society's last official scapegoats, hijacked by government tax weasels, lectured in editorials, chastised by their children and scorned by waiters, shop attendants and recorded announcements.

"For your comfort and convenience, Flight 347 is a no-smoking flight and the washrooms are equipped with smoke detectors."

Planning report is inaccurate: reader

Editor:

I have read the discussion paper issued by the Planning Committee of the county with real concern.

It appears to me that another government employee is again trying to tell the few workers how and what they should be doing, rather than addressing the real issues which are how to cut back on the number of government employees and their uncontrolled wages, benefits, and spending.

Under section 7 (B) there is a table purporting to show the number of wage earners in various categories. This table is either blatantly dishonest, or was written by 'someone under the influence'. To state that there are more people in manufacturing than in government is not correct. My guess is that there are roughly 75 to 80 percent government employees in the work force, in Haliburton.

Let us list a few - Police, Politicians, school boards, Social Workers, Hydro Workers, Hospital workers, School teachers, Postal workers, Staff for Depts. of Health, Environment, Lands and Forests etc. This list could go on and on but like it or not, all persons earning their wages from government employment are in fact government employees.

This leaves very few wage earners in the country to plan for. Hats off to Gary Kenney and John Beachli.

Community Tax Watch

by Gary Kenney and John Beachli

When does a fresh idea threaten to lose sight of its original purposes? Probably the minute it is taken seriously by enough people who give it the energy to become a movement.

With that in mind, 24 volunteer directors of The Tax Coalition of this county met three days after the first public meeting and tried to put it all in perspective. It went something like this:

"Five hundred persons is a nice turnout to a rally, but thousands of local taxpayers still do not know about us or our concerns. Emotions can run high when that many disgruntled neighbours get together over a tax issue, but we're talking about something that is strictly dollars and sense...common budgeting sense.

We need to get politicians attention, not scare off neighbours who have offered to represent us in office, or work for us in the public service."

And finally: "The problems that concern us will find half their solutions in our own back yard so let's get on with the work to make the November elections the best they can be for our local well-being."

So the PLAN takes shape. Two and three-person action-groups have been formed around the key issues of the election. They are: Market Value Assessment, Education, Economic Development and a Chamber of Commerce, County Restructuring, and Administration Costs.

The Coalition will never be politically biased. Volunteers who offer to run for office will be expected to declare their intentions and be treated by the Coalition as any other candidate. Three have done so to date.

On Saturday evening, October 26, and all-townships public meeting will be held in Haliburton Village for the purposes of reviewing those persons seeking election as Board of Education Trustee, Reeve, and Deputy-Reeve. The Coalition will sponsor this meeting and cooperate with (more on page 8)

Government feeds off of the need for cig-fix

Even if the beleaguered smoker manages to withstand the wrath of the pink lunged portion of the human race, he or she still gets mugged at the corner store. Nicotine addicts are all but grabbed by the heels and shaken loonieless every time they attempt to feed their habit. Taxes on cigarettes are so prohibitive that nobody this side of Conrad Black is buying premium brands. In fact, there's a convenience store in Kitchener, Ontario that offers "home-made" ciggies. The proprietor hand rolls the gaspers. He sells them for a dollar a package less than the price of pre-packaged cigarettes. He was doing great business until the feds informed him it was illegal.

No-name smokes. It had to come.

I think it's just the beginning. In Spain, there are wizened little guys standing on street corners who will sell you cigarettes in tens, fives, even one at a time. If Ottawa and the provinces keep slapping on tobacco taxes it won't be long before "one at a time" is about all Walt and his friends will be able to afford.

Our governments are similarly hypocritical about tobacco. They publicly denounce it, while privately wringing every possible shekel out of its victims.

It is the modus operandi of the drug pusher, writ large. Am I saying that smoking should be lionized, rendered "Hollywood sexy" once again? No. Smoking is an addiction - and a smelly, messy, lethal one at that. Besides, I like riding in smoke-free airplanes and buses. I appreciate eating a restaurant meal unperfumed by human smudge pots at the next table.

All I'm saying is, it might be nice if we could all go a little easier on smokers. Their vice is an unglamorous one, and they know it. They've got enough to handle with the monkey on their back and the taxman NIBBLING somewhat lower.

Let me leave you with a fag-end of tobacco trivia. Feel free to use it at your next smoke-free cocktail party: Who said "What this country needs is a good five cent cigar"? Answer: Thomas R. Marshall, U.S. Vice President, 1913-21.

About which the humourist Will Rogers observed: "This country has plenty of five cent cigars. Trouble is, they charge fifteen cents for them."

I think Walt Humphries would say amen to all of that.

Minden Museum had busy summer

Editor:

We have had a successful season at the Minden County Town Museum. As our season comes to a close at Thanksgiving, I thought it an ideal time to extend a big THANK YOU to the many contributors over the past year. Our success is due largely to these people. Guest speakers gave us a look into the past with facts and reminiscences; artifacts and memorabilia were loaned and given to us at an alarming rate; and last, but certainly of no lesser importance, the monetary donations have all helped us grow tremendously. On behalf of the museum committee and myself I say thank you again. It is people like you who make our job easier.

Many of our citizens may not be aware of what our group is trying to achieve and/or where we are located. The museum is open for your enjoyment, as well as that of the summer tourists. It is your history — that of the town, as well as the local families — that we are trying to preserve. You can find the Sterling Bank (which houses our displays), the Bowron Log Home (an excellent restoration of an 1880s dwelling), and the Drive Shed (which houses our tools and machinery display), directly behind the Minden Public Library building.

Our Pioneer Village has a good start with the three buildings, and a small log church will be erected on the site this fall.

We are on the prowl for a small school, a general store, a blacksmith shop, etc. If you know where we can acquire one of these buildings, please give one of us a call.

If you are interested in becoming a member, give us a call. If you have antiques, memorabilia, old books, vintage clothing you can lend or donate, give us a call. Or if you could give us an informal talk on any aspect of history, old crafts, etc. please give us a call.

Visit your local museum, and keep us in mind when you come across a bit of history.

all other township candidates meetings in whatever way these sponsors believe we can be of help.

The day after nominations are closed, Coalition directors will hand-deliver a questionnaire and receive a signed acknowledgement from all candidates for all township offices to return the document 10 days later.

The questionnaire will be made public at the same time, and if you have suggestions for that document please contact us (Box 359, Haliburton, KOM 1S0 286-1607) before October 4.

On Tuesday, September 24, 7:30PM, our Board of Education will meet at the Dorset school.

Our directors will attend that meeting and all remaining Municipal Council meetings to monitor the business at hand.

We intend to allow our neighbours the benefit of every information possible to make their November vote as reasoned as it can be. We can do no more than that. We will do no less.

their monthly groceries. And a small number of transient approach the church for funds, "usually to get from Point A to Point B."

Sometimes people approach the church for rent money, says Reverend Parker. "The problem with welfare is they can't give money if the person has no roof over his head. And he can't get a roof if there's no money. It's the old Catch-22."

The food cupboard is open Mondays, from 1 to 3 p.m., and Wednesdays and Saturdays, 10 to 12 noon.

Reverend Parker says he doesn't put people on the spot when they ask for help. "If they're willing to come here for help, they probably need some help. Because many are embarrassed to come here, especially at first."

To avoid "leading people into temptation," Reverend Parker tries hard not to give out cash.

Most of the money donated goes toward vouchers, to pay for specific items and services.

The church hands out vouchers for the Tamarack Motel, Dollo's IGA, Minden IDA, the bus station, Sid Stamp Fuels, and Minden Home Hardware.

"Depending what the people need, I write it down on the voucher. And the stores send a bill each month," says Parker, who learned this method during the time he worked at Stop 103, with Dennis Drainville, who is now Victoria-

Haliburton's Member of Provincial Parliament.

Many people make regular donations. "Sometimes food just appears mysteriously at the door, so there are people who maintain it," says Reverend Parker.

The reverend is thankful to all who donated money, and food items which include several boxes of Kraft Dinner, packages of spaghetti and macaroni, boxes of cereal, and cans of beans.

Also, Scott Harris gave more than 120 pounds of homemade hamburger patties left over from the Kinmount Fair.

And the local Minden ambulance crew donated $50 from their coffee fund.

During the last drive, one of the local service clubs made a sizable monetary donation, and promises to make another donation sometime around Thanksgiving, says Reverend Parker.

Those who attend St. Paul's Church often hear the message of how integral it is to help out those who are less fortunate.

The following is a quote from James 2:16-17, which Reverend Parker read as part of this Sunday's service:

"What does it profit, my brethren, if a man says he has faith but has not works? Can his faith save him? If a brother or sister is ill-clad and in lack of daily food, and one of you says to them, 'Go in peace, be warmed and filled,' without giving them the things needed for the body, what does it profit? So faith by itself, if it has no works, is dead."

Berry will confront Drainville on issues

Drainville and share my concerns," he said, asking fellow Minden councillors for support. "I would prefer if council instructed me by resolution."

Noting that the municipal election is coming up in November, Berry said he's tired of holding back.

"We're coming to the end of another term," he said. "If I'm going to kick, I might as well kick hard."

He said council did meet with Drainville in December, and discussed the extension of Bobcaygeon Road, the community Centre, and Minden's zoning bylaw.

The municipality has been waiting for the Ministry of Municipal Affairs to approve its 86-26 zoning bylaw. Approval has been stalled because of four site specific objections, which are currently awaiting review by the Ontario Municipal Board.

Berry called the hindrance "a disgrace. We've been working with two bylaws because of this. We've been attempting for six years to get this passed."

Initial problems with the bylaw occurred when the Ministry of Natural Resources required that council include flood plain mapping.

"We've been turned back so many times," he said. "I think we've been led down the garden path."

Regarding the registry office, Berry said there has been no increase in services. "We don't want to lose it eventually," he said. "We should have better services for the county of Haliburton."

Berry apologized for his "outburst," and council passed a resolution supporting him in his plan to challenge Drainville.

A winning year for Redmen says coach

It will be a winning year for the junior and senior football teams at Haliburton Highlands Secondary School. That's the word from long-time football coach Gary Brohman as he put the two teams through their paces Wednesday afternoon. Brohman said the strength and depth of the junior team should lead to an undefeated season, while the seniors should emerge with a 4 & 2 season.

The coach predicted the two Lindsay schools will provide the toughest competition. "they have both experienced a strong growth in enrollment," the coach noted. "Their school populations will be close to 1200 each which means they have a much wider field to draw from in forming their teams." By comparison, the student population at HHSS is just over 600.

The teams took to the field this past Friday for their first game of the season. They travelled to Bancroft for a pre-season exhibition contest.

The senior team will see the return of Jay Hughes in the quarterback position. Strong leadership and a good throwing arm makes him an asset for the team. Others bringing experience to the team this year include backs and receivers Jerry Cooper, Mark Klages, Chris Greenfield, Bart Whiting and Peter Van Leeuwen. New to the backfield this year is Chris Bradford, who Brohman identified as a talented football player.

The offensive line will benefit from a number of three and four year veterans. Among the experienced players are Dereck Wilson, Scott Murison, Jeff Black, Greg Brohman and Pat Bradley.

Back for another season on the senior defensive squad are Jim Hyde, Garwood Thomas, Jamie Keefer, Andre Webber and Cory Raymond.

While 38 players have tried out for the senior team, the junior try-outs attracted a bumper crop of 47.

Coach Brohman said in addition to having a large number of players to choose from, there are a large number of experienced players back to strengthen the squad. Brohman is looking for strong offensive play from Andy Bacon and Peter Brohman. In the quarterback slot this year is Kevin Morissette with his brother Mark backing him up. Todd McCracken with Andy Billings will provide additional strength for the junior squad.

"There is an excellent crop of rookies this year," Brohman commented. "We're looking forward to an exciting year."

Four coaches will share responsibilities for the two teams this year. They include: Tim Davies, Bruce Griffith, Paul Morissette and Gary Brohman.

Surrounded by members of the senior Redmen football team, coach Gary Brohman issues instructions during a practise held Wednesday afternoon. The senior HHSS team won their season opener Friday, defeating Bancroft High School in an exhibition match 16-8. The junior exhibition game was cancelled, however an pre-season warm-up has been slated for this afternoon against I.E. Weldon. The season opens for gets underway officially this Friday on home turf.

Skaters hone skills during the summer

During the summer most people are not thinking of ice (except in their drink). Some of our local skaters, though, were on the ice during the past months, honing their skills.

Andrea Pawluch skated for 7 weeks in Thornhill under the direction of Bob Emmerson and Blaine Moore. Andrea passed her Blues dance.

Cori and Kristi Barkwell were skating at the Minto Skating Club in Ottawa. Their coaches for the 4 weeks were Gordon Forbes and John Coyne. Kristi passed her Tango dance.

Skating in Lindsay this year were Lisa Carr, Marita Schrader and Janene Garbutt. All three skaters were under the direction of Michael Sanderson. Lisa passed her Viennese and Westminster dances. Lisa was also a skating instructor at the Havelock club.

During the summer skating season some of the skaters were able to attend competitions. During the August long weekend Minto held their annual summer skate. Results are: Kristi Barkwell, Juvenile B - 3rd. Andrea Pawluch, Pre-Novice B - 8th, Cori Barkwell, Novice B - 8th.

The Thornhill competition took place the weekend of August 16. Results are:

Andrea Pawluch, Jr. Silver B - 10th, Lisa Carr - Skate Canada Interpretive - 3rd.

Congratulations to all the mentioned skaters for their dedication and hard work.

Highlands Skating School is holding their fall session in Haliburton. Many skaters from Haliburton, Minden and Bancroft will be in attendance. Good luck to all of the skaters and we hope they have fun and do well in the upcoming season.

Another ace at local course

It doesn't happen often in a golfer's life, but it is almost becoming a common occurrence in this area. Another hole-in-one was scored this past week on an area course.

The ace came last Sunday on the Blairhampton Golf Course. Lee Groves of Aurora scored the feat on the eighth hole. According to course owner Doug Prozak, the hole-in-one came off a five iron.

Karate Club wins honours

by Susan Grober

Minden Shotokan Karate members brought home 10 medals after the International Karate Association (IKA) challenge last week.

Eight different clubs took part in the competition, which was held at Bowmanville High School on Sunday, September 8.

Jonathon Lynch won first place in kumite, and tied with Brock Ladurantaye for third place in kata. Brock also won second place in kumite.

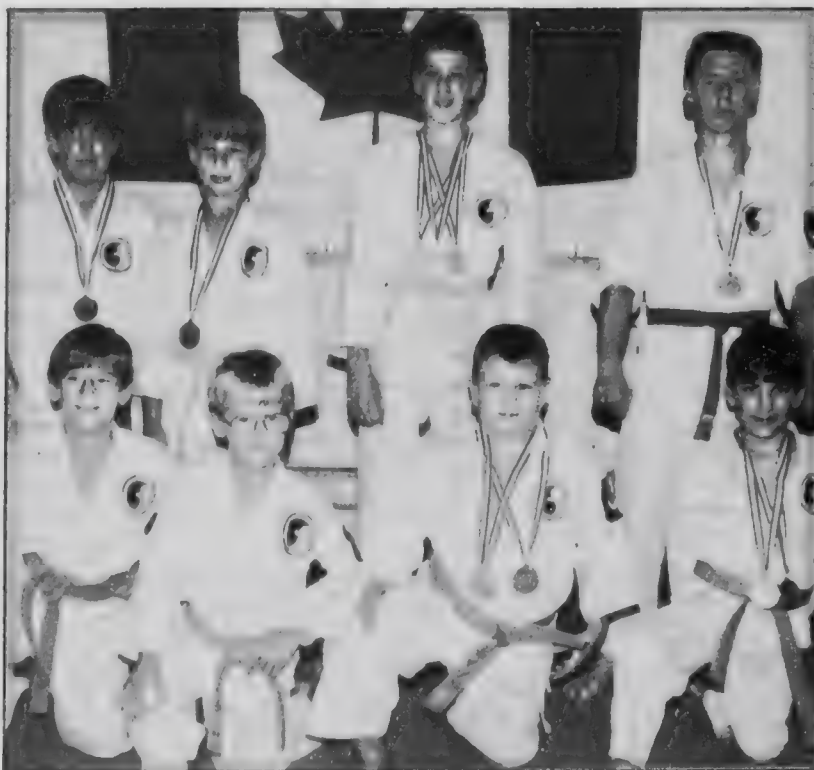

Aaron Gibbons took third in kata, while his brother, Nathan Gibbons, took second.

Nathan also took first place in kumite and third in team kata, with Ryan Ladurantaye.

Marc MacKinnon took third place for kata, in what instructor Rolan Abraham calls "a very, very hard division." MacKinnon now has a green belt.

Also participating were Jeffrey and Chad Pentney, and Corey Smith.

The next karate tournament these young men look forward to takes place in December in Toronto.

These members of the Minden Shotokan Karate club took part in a recent competition, with some bringing home a total of 10 medals. They are, from left, top row: Ryan Ladurantaye, Aaron Gibbons, Nathan Gibbons, Marc MacKinnon. Front row: Jeffrey Pentney, Chad Pentney, Jonathon Lynch, and Brock Ladurantaye.

Archery season scheduled

The challenge of hunting deer with a bow is now a reality in Wildlife Management Unit 56. Mild winters and adequate food supplies have resulted in deer populations remaining at high levels. One of the benefits from these conditions is the introduction this year of a Deer Archery Season running from October 15th to November 3rd, 1991.

Hunters wishing to participate in the new deer season must purchase a $1.00 archery tag from local licence issuers to validate their current deer licence.

One of the "bonuses" for the participants is that Sunday hunting with a bow is allowed during the archery season. Antlerless deer may be harvested by bow, provided the hunter has an antlerless validation tag for Wildlife Management Unit 56.

Remember, if you fill your antlerless tag during the archery season, it is no longer valid for an antlerless deer during the regular rifle hunt.

First time participants are reminded that a bow is defined as a firearm by the Game and Fish Act and must be encased from one-half hour after sunset to one-half hour before sunrise. "Encased" means securely enclosed in a manner whereby the bow is not readily accessible. We would also like to remind hunters that dogs cannot accompany a hunter during the archery season.

Laws regarding bow poundage, draw length, and arrow size have been summarized below for moose, deer and bear hunting. It is contrary to the Regulations:

a) to use a crossbow having a draw length of less than 30 cm (12 in) or

b) to use a crossbow which has a draw weight less than 45 kg (99 lbs) when hunting deer or less than 54

Clinics will help fight rabies threat

Rabies is a threat to us all. Almost always fatal, it can infect humans as well as domestic animals and wildlife.

But low cost rabies vaccination clinics, arranged by the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit in close co-operation with the District Veterinary Association, will help control the problem.

The clinics will be held on September 21 and 28, 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m., at the Minden Animal Clinic, and at Haliburton Veterinary Services at the Haliburton Firehall on September 21 only.

Rabies is a virus disease of warm-blooded animals. Although it is usually transferred by the bite of an infected animal, it may also occur if the animal's saliva enters an open cut or a wound. The virus then invades the nervous system and travels to the brain. Once symptoms develop (it may take 2 weeks to 6 months for symptoms to appear after contact with a rabid animal) the disease is fatal.

Southern Ontario has the highest concentration of rabies in all of North America. In 1990, the reported cases of animal rabies in Ontario numbered 1802. Animal rabies occurs in cycles with a peak being reached every two to five years in different areas. Sixty percent of the people who come in contact with rabies are exposed to it by their household pets. For these reasons, rabies vaccinations of cats and dogs three months of age and older is compulsory in the Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit area.

Low-cost vaccination clinics are planned for once a year to encourage the vaccination of dogs and cats. An immunization certificate and a rabies vaccination I.D. tag are issued for your pets as proof of immunization and to indicate the due date for re-vaccination. The veterinarian may exempt aged or infirm pets from vaccination providing they are confined or restrained to avoid exposure to rabies. The maximum fine is $5,000 for anyone who fails to comply with the adequate vaccination of their dog or cat.

Most of Canada's rabies is carried by wildlife. This makes control difficult and eradication almost impossible. Foxes, skunks, bats and raccoons are the main carriers. These wild animals pose a continual threat because they often live close to people. If they come into contact and infect your pet or farm animals, you are then exposed to the risk of the disease when handling your animals.

Clinics combat rabies

In addition to regular vaccination of your pets, the following points are very important to help control rabies:

1. If attacked by an animal suspect of having rabies, you should:

a) Immediately wash the affected area with soap and water, cleanse the wound with alcohol and apply antiseptic.

b) Consult your doctor as rabies treatment may be required.

c) Notify your local Health Unit and give information to assist in locating and identifying the animal.

2. Avoid contact with pets or other animals that you suspect may have been involved with rabid animals of any type. Pets that have been exposed to rabid animals should only be handled with gloves. They should be confined in order to prevent contact with other animals and humans. Confinement should be continued until there is no risk of rabies being transferred from animal to animal or animal to man. Your local Health Unit or the district veterinarian of the Ministry of Agriculture can assist you with further advice on how to handle animals that have had contact with a suspected rabid animal.

3. Report any unusual behaviour of your animals to the local or district veterinarian.

4. Keep all pets under control at all times whether or not there's a municipal law requiring them to be tied up and kept on a leash.

5. Keep your pets in the house at night. Many night-roaming animals, notably skunks, carry and transmit the disease.

6. Stay a safe distance away from all wild and stray animals.

Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Unit in close co-operation with the District Veterinary Association arrange for the provision of low-cost rabies vaccination clinics for cats and dogs throughout the Health Unit area on an annual basis. Confirmed dates for the 1991 clinics are September 21 and 28. Support the clinic in your area.

Remember, vaccination protects both the animal and its human companion. Regular immunization of your pets and a well informed public will help to significantly reduce the risk of rabies to everyone.

Catarina's parents aren't the only ones who are happy they purchased an R-2000 home.

Catarina is very happy too. It's hard for her to explain, but her new home is more comfortable than her old house. It's a happy house. That's because the R-2000 home represents an advanced standard of new home construction, one that is supported by the housing industry, Ontario Hydro, manufacturers and the provincial and federal governments.

Why is an R-2000 home more comfortable and energy efficient?

R-2000 homes are constructed with a greater attention to detail. They are much more than just extra insulation. In addition to being carefully designed to improve energy efficiency, the home is sealed using a continuous air barrier to reduce drafts and unwanted air leakage. This prevents warm, moist air from being carried into the walls and attic where it can condense and cause rot. The result, a home that is comfortable and energy efficient.

A $2,000 incentive.

Quite simply, the R-2000 home is a better-built home. In fact, because of its energy efficiency, Ontario Hydro offers a $2,000 incentive to purchasers in areas where natural gas service is unavailable.

Individually inspected and certified.

Look for the R-2000 Excellence symbol. Each R-2000 home is built by a certified R-2000 builder and tested to ensure it meets strict energy efficiency and ventilation standards.

The cats have arrived at Northshore Lawn and Garden in Minden much to the delight of members of the local snowmobiling community. The business, which has built its reputation on power equipment for lawn, garden and snow removal, has expanded its service to local consumers by adding Arctic Cat snowmobiles to its product line-up. Mark Lester, publisher of the popular magazine Ontario Snowmobiler, took time out to get a closer look at the 1992 models. Northshore Lawn and Garden owner Bob Patton, right, helps to introduce the product line to Lester.

Insect world proves there are many species yet to discover

Politicians and government bureaucrats oversee natural resources - fish, trees, water, soil, air - on the erroneous notion that we possess the knowledge and expertise to formulate sound "management" policy.

The ever-increasing list of ecological crises: chemical spills, nuclear accidents, air pollution - make it obvious we lack enough hard data about the species makeup and interaction in the planetary biosphere to act in an informed way.

Understandably, attention has been focused on tropical rain forests that are the major repository of the world's species. But in North America, large areas of old-growth forest continue to be "liquidated" because experts boast they know how to "reforest" the land.

It is a remarkable claim when you consider how ignorant we are. An eminent world expert on insects, Tom Eisner of Cornell University, once told me he could go to Central Park in New York City any day and find a new insect species. That's in a big metropolis, think how many undiscovered species there must be in old-growth forests.

Geoff Scudder is an entomologist and former head of the zoology department at the University of British Columbia. He is a world expert on lygaeids, a group of insects that includes stink bugs. Not only is he familiar with virtually every known lygaeid species in the world, he has specimens for more than 400 genera that have never been identified.

Reflections

by David Suzuki

Scudder decries the lack of support for systematics, the science of collecting, naming and classifying species, and says the need is as great in botany as it is in zoology.

He recounted a field trip to the island of New Caledonia in the South Pacific.

"Botanists in the jeep with me suddenly leapt out when they spotted a flowering tree. They had been waiting for 10 years because often positive classification can only be made with fruits and flowers.

While the importance of trees may be obvious to the lay person because of their potential medicinal properties or yield of fruit or wood, the value of identifying insects may not be. Scudder says that of all animal species that we know, more than 95 percent are insects.

For every human being on earth there are at least 200-million individual insects. From the standpoint of evolution, insects are one of the oldest, most diverse and successful group of organisms on earth. Because they are so numerous and varied, insects are extremely important components of ecosystems.

Many flowering plants, trees, mammals, birds and fish would not survive without them.

As a geneticist who has spent 25 years studying fruit flies, I can also tell you the study of insects has provided some of our most fundamental insights into mechanisms of human heredity, development and behaviour.

Based on his studies of tropical insects, the Smithsonian Institution's Terry Erwin estimated there may be 30-million species on earth. So far, biologists have only identified 1.4 million.

Even if there are only five - to 20-million species, the scale of our ignorance of planetary biodiversity is vast. And remember, identifying a species merely means giving a name to a dead specimen. It doesn't mean we have any basic information about its numbers, habitat, reproduction, behaviour or interactions.

Since we know so little about the biological world, we need more information about the extent of biological variability and we must manage OUR use of parts of nature. But the basic information is trickling out too slowly and one of the main reasons is scientific snobbery.

Most financial support and publicity goes to glamor areas that are relevant to society like cancer research, computers and biotechnology or "sexy" fundamental projects like astronomy and particle physics. Descriptive fields like taxonomy and systematics and even evolution and ecology are low in the scientific pecking order and so, not surprisingly, much more poorly funded.

This makes no sense in a time when ecosystems around the world are being devastated by human activity and species are becoming extinct faster than we are discovering them. Because of the low priority of systematics, it is difficult to recruit new students while those who graduate can't find jobs.

Government positions for systematics in museums and research centers are being phased out, yet of those insect species collected in Canada, only half have been identified.

Any scientists should understand that our ignorance about the world is immensely greater than what we know. Canada's continuing support of research at Third World levels is a disgrace. Compared to megaprojects like the KAON facility at UBC, the Human Genome Project and space stations, producing and inventory of the planet's diverse forms of life should have the highest priority.

Letter prompts discussion

Access question pondered

by Susan Grober

The municipal office will be wheelchair accessible if one local woman has her way.

Phyllis Sisson wrote to council last month requesting that a ramp be built for those who use wheelchairs.

"At this point, someone such as myself, who drives a power wheelchair, cannot enter the building because of the step," she wrote.

"As a property owner, I wish to have the option of being able to physically enter the office that I may pay my taxes personally. I would ask that this request of accessibility be taken into consideration."

Sisson recently commended Ontario Hydro for installing a ramp during its renovations. And she's confident that the time has come for the township to do the same.

"On behalf of other physically challenged people in our community, I thank you for future services available to all who choose to enter this office," she wrote.

In considering the letter at last Thursday's meeting, members of Minden council discussed the feasibility of such a project.

Chief Building Official Tom Hubercheck told council the area in front of the door would have to be elevated by six inches to install a ramp.

Hubercheck said access would be possible through either the front or side door.

"It's a very simple, feasible matter," he said, adding that the front door would provide the shortest distance.

Roads Superintendent Clayton Cameron said he and Hubercheck haven't had time yet to do all their homework on the project.

However, he added, "It would be a great expenditure to do it."

Reeve Bern Berry said, because of the community tax watch group, council should watch the dollars closely, and only have one entrance accessible to wheelchairs.

Councillor Verne Graham said there is funding available for such projects, but Berry noted that the Minden Museum has had no success in applying for the funding.

However, a local man who volunteered his services has put in one ramp for wheelchair access, and plans to put in another.

"I feel that man should be commended," Berry said.

Objects to child care funding process

Editor:

Below is a copy of a letter I have just sent to the Minister of Community and Social Services, Zanana Akande, and to Dennis Drainville, our MPP. I am sharing this with the intent of provoking parents and concerned taxpayers to do the same.

The Government of Ontario continually does injustice to us all by giving funding to the minority, and overlooking the needs of the majority. This is just one example, but it does concern CHACE users and members.

I sincerely hope that anyone who reads this, and is angered, as I was, will not leave the issue in the hands of the CHACE administration and Board of Directors, as they desire to keep their funding and provide this service to the community. The responsibility lies with us as parents and taxpayers, to try and correct this situation with letters to the government that let them know our concerns.

Dear Mrs. Akande:

I am writing to protest your new direction in the funding of Child Resource/Drop-In Centres. It has come to my attention that this government has urged CHACE Inc. in Haliburton County, and all other such centres in Ontario, to change their mandate to specifically target informal caregivers (babysitters, paid or unpaid) to be their primary responsibility as far as programming and support, providing workshops, information and directories for childcare. The problem with this is that in Haliburton, only nine per cent of the users of these centres are caregivers. To specifically target the needs of this nine per cent as the main group for which to provide services, overlooks and insults the remaining 91 per cent.

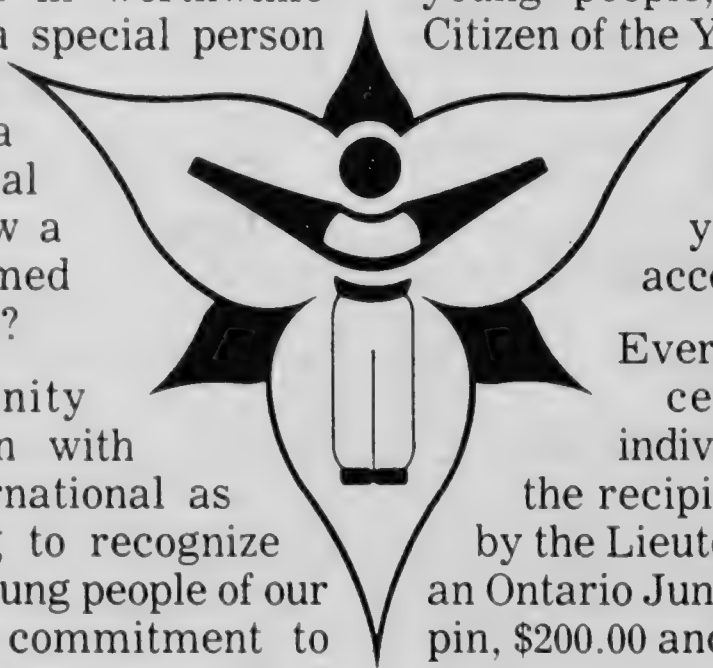

The primary reason I have supported and made use of CHACE is that it does provide support, encouragement, materials, information and social activity for parents who choose to stay at home with their young children. The MCSS has argued that since funding comes from "Child Care Dollars," the primary target must therefore be childcare. You are mistaken! The money comes from "Taxpayer Dollars" that are being irresponsibly used to benefit a minority group. You are taking away staff time, materials, etc. from the majority, those who could clearly use support and encouragement for the job they do of raising their own children.

I would appreciate a response to these concerns.

Lorri Roberts,
Haliburton

Job loss concerns end NDP auto insurance plan

The decision of the New Democratic government not to proceed with public auto insurance is due to our priority to create jobs and help speed Ontario to economic recovery. It was a tough decision to make, but it is the best decision for these times.

"This is a case of the right policy at the wrong time," said our premier, Bob Rae. By introducing public auto insurance at this time more than 13,500 jobs would have been lost, nearly 5,600 them permanently. We owe it to the people of this province to help end the recession - not make it worse.

Our main goal on this issue has been to provide fairer auto insurance. I believe that our efforts to date and our continuing monitoring of insurance companies will provide Ontario residents with quality, affordable auto insurance. Instead of creating a publicly-owned auto insurance company, your government will put its efforts to making the existing system work better for you. Changes in legislation and regulations will allow us to accomplish our objectives without the job-loss of the public insurance option.

To begin with your government will hold the insurance companies to the lower premiums they have been promising. Financial Institutions Minister Brian Charlton said that he is confident insurance companies could afford to reduce their average annual premiums by about $40 to $60.

Other improvements that will be introduced to the Legislature this fall include:

- * providing accident victims greater access to the courts. Access to the right to sue, severely curtailed under the Liberal government's Ontario Motorist Protection Plan, will be expanded. Once legislation is passed, more innocent accident victims will be able to sue for non-economic losses, also known as "pain and suffering" tort.

- * improving and indexing accident benefits.

- * removing caps on rehabilitation costs.

- * introducing a universal classification system that will enable consumers to better understand their insurance and the basis of their premiums, making shopping for competitive rates possible.

- * introducing plans to integrate government and industry efforts to reduce the number of traffic accidents, and thus insurance costs.

- * calling on the industry to participate in a joint private and public working group to ensure accessibility to affordable insurance. The working group will design a new system to replace the Facility Association as insurer of last resort and end the current industrial practice of "creaming" (taking only the lowest risk customers and dropping the rest).

Your government believes its first priority must be jobs for the people of Ontario and restoration of a healthy economy to ensure we can afford vital social programs.

Riverside renovations

Municipal parks employees cleared out a portion of the bank behind the river dock last week in preparation for some changes to the park. The surface area of the dock will be expanded and a gazebo will be installed at the location. Over the years, a number of improvements to the riverbanks through the community have made the park one of the most attractive features of the village.

Council mental health study seeking input

From the District Health Council

"I've never had a single problem with finding and using mental health services, (but then again, I've never tried)."

How many people in Ontario can make such a claim? Probably not many. Statistics Canada estimates that one in eight Canadians will be hospitalized for mental illness at least once in their lifetime - add to that all of the people who have friends and family caught up in trying to access the system, and most of us would have some story to tell. And yet, there is still so much silence on this issue.

The Haliburton, Kawartha, Pine Ridge District Health Council has undertaken a major planning project to develop a multi-year mental health plan for its district. The plan is being developed by a community steering committee which includes over 30 per cent representation from consumers (psychiatric survivors and family members).

"we've got some data but now we need the words - the ideas and experiences of those who really know what's going on," explains Ruth Sanderson, the contract planner working on the project.

The committee is currently gathering information from the community which includes Haliburton, Victoria, Peterborough and Northumberland Counties. Community meetings will be held from September to November, for residents of the HKPR district, in order to record their concerns and ideas for the plan.

Any group or individual interested in participating in one of these meetings or in providing information is encouraged to contact:

Getting the picture

Everyone loves photographs. They capture memories of significance, provide a way for sharing special moments with those who couldn't be there in person and serve as a pictorial history of one's life. Despite the growing popularity of video recording, photographs are still the medium most people use when they record important events in their lives.

That fact offers a good reason why the Perfect Prints photo finishing outlet in Minden has bucked the local economic trend and noted a strong period of growth over the past summer.

Perfect Prints is owned and operated by Lorri Roberts of Minden. She acquired the local franchise in June of this year after it was operated for a year by Ken Rydman of Haliburton.

Knowing that people use their cameras to record events of particular significance, Lorri says her greatest concern is to produce quality reprints of the snapshots they have taken. Maintaining the quality of the prints developed on her premises is her first priority. As a member of the highly promoted Kodak Colourwatch System Lorri employs a battery of tests on a regular basis to ensure the film developer and print maker are operating at peak quality.

In addition to weekly test strips run through the sophisticated equipment, each day at the photo reprint shop begins with a test of the chemicals in use. These tests, which take a half an hour to complete, provide assurance that the negatives and prints produced that day will be the best possible.

Since the developing and printing is done on the premises, individuals wanting to see their photos as soon as possible can ask for the one hour service. While there is an additional charge for this rapid service, it is still popular, especially with families who have visitors. With the rapid developing and printing, they can share the excitement of the snapshots with their guests before they head for home.

Quality service and rapid turn-around has paid off for Lorri. This past summer she has recorded a 38% increase in business over 1990. In a year which saw generally fewer people visiting the Highlands and those who did, spending more carefully, an increase of that size speaks favourably of her efforts to provide a quality product.

In addition to film developing and printing photos, the Minden Perfect Prints outlet sells albums, frames, film and a limited line of automatic cameras.

But, it is the pleasure of seeing one's memories in photographs that brings most people through Lorri's door. And, if the increases of this summer are any indication, she'll be helping a lot more people hold those moments in their hands.

Minister will meet with local tourist operators

Haliburton business representatives will meet with Peter North, the Minister of Tourism, on October 25 to discuss what can be done to boost tourism in the county, announced MPP Dennis Drainville.

Mr. Drainville, who arranged the meeting at the request of resort operators, said that the Minister's visit is part of a strategy to develop the tourism industry here in Haliburton County.

"Haliburton County depends on tourism," said Mr. Drainville.

The MPP has been working with members of the Chamber of Commerce to find a solution to their current funding problem. At a meeting in August chaired by Mr. Drainville, the Chamber of Commerce and County officials discussed ways to improve the funding situation.

As a part of the strategy, the Ministry of Tourism will hold a marketing strategy workshop in November for up to 120 participants. Currently there is no overall tourism strategy in place. "In order for our community to develop a strong economic base we need to develop a strategy for attracting the business," the MPP said.

Mr. Drainville will coordinate any work done by Tourism and any other provincial departments to complement the recent economic strategy plan developed by the County of Haliburton.

New association meets

Builders hear optimistic forecast

The next year will hold a brighter future for new home construction, members of the Haliburton County Home Builders Association were told Wednesday night. The optimistic outlook was delivered by George Penny, a manager of mortgage development for the Bank of Montreal and a member of the board of directors for the Ontario Home Builders Association.

Penny was speaking to the first official gathering of the local association. Over 40 members were present.

He told the audience, which included a cross-section of contractors, trades, renovators and suppliers that 1992 would be an excellent year for new home construction. He said the reduction in interest rates has enticed a large number of people back into the market. He expected the prime rate to drop to around 9%. Penny also predicted the increased interest in new housing will be led by first-time buyers, individuals who have held back buying a home because of the high interest rates.

In addition to commenting on the mortgage market, Penny had words of praise for Ontario's newest homebuilders' association. He noted there are 33 similar associations across the province and many more in the other nine provinces. By joining the local group, a builder also acquires membership in the provincial and national group. He told the audience these associations are responsible for lobbying government on a number of issues pertaining to the construction industry. The national office, located in Ottawa was responsible for lobbying against the application of the GST on new home construction. The provincial group, meanwhile, has been attempting to convince officials to change the regulations surrounding the lot levy currently being applied to new house construction in many municipalities.

Penny suggested the local association can be an excellent marketing tool for contractors by ensuring a high quality of workmanship from its members. Membership in the Haliburton County Home Builders Association should be a sign to prospective buyers that they are dealing with reputable businesses, he told the group.

The association also provide a forum through which the group can hold seminars, community projects and get to know the other members in the industry. He challenged those in attendance, by pointing out the success of the organization depends on their input and involvement.

Formation of the Haliburton County Home Builders Association has been evolving slowly over the summer months. John Robinson, of J.D. Robinson Construction has been appointed president of the fledgling organization. He told the gathering the organization must expand its membership to include builders and related trades throughout the county.

Critical months ahead

The next few months will be critical for our Chamber. The Chamber always has been an uneasy alliance of Business, Tourism, Private and Municipal interests. It can and has aroused strong passions (which is a good and healthy sign) about what it should be doing. Speaking for myself, I have resigned from the Board once on principle, once because of frustration, and once I just faded away for 2 years from exhaustion. (Some, I am sure, wish I had faded away forever.) That particular feeling is too, I believe, a healthy sign. Some of the best political advice I ever received was from our own Highlander of the Year, the late Elgin Stouffer. He told me that the best indication

Chamber News

by Shawn Hagerman

that you are actually moving and doing things, is that 30% of the population should be fervently against you.

The Chamber, for all its limitations, has provided the vital outlet for the different forces and currents that flow through our county. It is a forum where different people can meet, debate, and become better aware of each other's strengths, weaknesses, and needs. The Achilles' heel of the model of the Muskoka Tourism Association (taking nothing away from what it is accomplishing) is that it lacks that grass root commitment.

That model may serve the area of the Muskokas best, but I sincerely believe that our Chamber working on a fee for service basis with the County, is the best vehicle for our county. The Chamber will always have its boosters and its detractors. It is important to filter out the detractors and concentrate on what needs to be done to regroup and refocus our direction.

There used to be a cat in my uncle's barn, who would first corner, then catch a mouse. He would spend endless amounts of time tormenting it and riving it to distraction. He seemed truly sad, even shocked, when the mouse finally gave up. So it has seemed with those who, over time, have taken their best shots at our Chamber. To them, it just didn't seem to be possible that an organization that had always squeaked through before couldn't make it this time.

What needs to happen, is that, in calmer moments, aside from the pro's and cons of the Chamber, or Economic planners, or plans, or tax revolts, or cutbacks, the Chamber and the County meet and begin working together in a cooperative manner. A healthy Chamber is a sign of a healthy and growing county. A Chamber with its doors closed is a reminder that the county is not open for business. Our County, for its own self-interest for increasing its tax base and revenues, simply cannot afford to let that happen. It must do everything it can to encourage a strong, vibrant, and successful Chamber. Only then will the County and Chamber become a true partnership that will eventually benefit all that live in the Highlands.

Residents share in wedding celebration

Saturday, August 24 Ruby Lewis' great granddaughter Cooper was married. In the evening the whole wedding party came to Hyland Crest to see Ruby and to take pictures.

Sunday evening chapel service was taken by Rev. Bob MacBrien, a friend of Rev. Burgess. Rev. Burgess was with us but unable to take the service due to illness. Mrs. MacBrien played the organ. We sincerely thank them both.

Dedication tea in honour of Stella Stinson held August 26, 1991. Hyland Crest Senior Citizens' Home was the scene on August 26 at 2:00 p.m. of a special tea held in honour of former resident Mrs. Stella Stinson.

Mollie McCarthy, president of the Ladies Auxiliary welcomed all those attending - residents, members of the Auxiliary and special guests of the family, son Bob Stinson and his wife Joan; Stella's daughter Ruth and her husband Jack Max; as well as Mrs. Roberts and Alida Wingate.

In her remarks, Mrs. McCarthy spoke warmly of

Senior League

by Winnifred Barnum

Stella pointing out that it was she who had originated the rug hooking activity and dubbed the group The Happy Hookers.

The focus of the tea was the dedication of three beautiful floral paintings, two by Deborah Bates and one by Amy Ord, purchased with donations to the Auxiliary in Stella's memory. The paintings were selected by Winnie Barnum, representing the residents, Llyn Shirley the Home Staff and Lorraine King, the Auxiliary.

Mrs. McCarthy then called upon Bob to hang the commemorative plaque below the paintings. In doing so, he thanked the Ladies Auxiliary for selecting the paintings and the Home for having provided super care to his mother.

Next, the Administrator, Mrs. Rheta Jones, spoke warmly of her brief association with Stella and expressed pride in having the paintings hanging in the newly painted Residents' dining room for them to enjoy.

Mrs. Jones took advantage of the occasion to announce to coming events, the Volunteers' Tea on September 25 from 2-4 p.m. to thank all the volunteer groups for their support and the 25th anniversary tea to celebrate a quarter century since the founding of Hyland Crest. Both events will be publicized during the coming weeks.

Last, but not least, Mrs. Jones invited all guests to partake of refreshments at a table set with mouthwatering, calorie laden goodies, plus tea of course.

On Monday evening, Pat Bradbury and Fern Donnelly showed movies of "First Winter" and "Wild in the City" and "Australian Animal Wonders."

Tuesday, August 27, Rev. Louise Leonard held chapel service in the morning and the Stanhope Line Dancers entertained in the afternoon. Thanks to both.

Congratulations to Nora Groves on her birthday August 28. We had a bus ride to Eagle Lake with the help of Terry Barnum who drove. Thank you Terry.

Thursday Club 35 ladies provided a lovely tea party and Marion Irwin entertained with piano music and sing-along. Thanks enormously. After the tea, Dianne Garbutt played piano and trombone music in the main lounge for which we thank her very much.

Friday was Happy Hour with the Grandfathers 5 providing the entertainment and the faithful volunteers helping as usual. We are very thankful.

Tuesday, May, Roy and Jackie took me out for lunch and we had dinner with Wilda LaRue at Redstone Lake cottage.

Dora Dawson had Winnie Dawson to visit her Thursday.

New limits for out of country OHIP coverage

by Doreen Hawman

As a result of changes in the payment policy by the Ontario Health Insurance Plan, starting October 1, 1991, OHIP will pay only a fraction of the cost for any Ontario resident who uses an American hospital.

It an Ontario resident must use an American hospital in an emergency, OHIP will now pay up to a maximum of $400 a day.

Because companies who sell supplementary medical insurance will be liable for the costs not covered by OHIP, insurance premiums for long-term stays will in some classes double while premiums for three week visits will increase by about 20 per cent.

For further information or to obtain a copy of the new rate schedule contact your nearest Information Centre in Haliburton or Minden.

In Minden, the centre in the Anson, Hindon and Minden Municipal office is open Monday and Tuesday 10:00 a.m. - 4:00 p.m. or call 286-4100.

What to look for when buying a new home.

For the past 10 years I've studied building techniques to discover how to build a better home. A home that would meet the needs of today's energy and comfort conscious home buyers. What I learned was that one home — the R-2000 home — is your best choice. Why? Well, there are a lot of reasons. Here are just a few.

Superior Construction

- greater attention to detail prevents excess air leakage.
- continuous operating ventilation system offers superior indoor air quality all year round.

More Comfort

- reduces cold spots and drafts, with even temperature from attic to basement.

Lower Heating Costs

- the R-2000 home saves you money because it is more energy efficient than a conventionally built home.

Individually Inspected

- every R-2000 home is inspected and awarded a certificate if it meets R-2000 standards.

IN ADDITION, QUALIFIED PURCHASERS CAN RECEIVE A $2,000 REBATE FROM ONTARIO HYDRO.

THE BETTER-BUILT HOME

Look for the R-2000 Excellence sign at your local builder. The R-2000 home, it's the "Better-Built Home."

The R-2000 program is supported by: Ontario Hydro; Ministry of Energy; Energy, Mines & Resources Canada.

Around the County Town

Interested people attended the lecture by Angus Baxter, author of several books, on 'Tracing your Roots'. He met the people before and after his talk and autographed his books. He was introduced by Cecil Rowe from Haliburton Highlands Genealogical Group. A question and answer session went on. Carol Miles thanked him for his gift of books and announced their monthly meeting at Council Chambers Wed., Sept. 25 at 1:30. Refreshments were enjoyed by all.

On Sept. 3rd. the members from Minden Lawn Bowling Club participated in their annual golf tournament at Beaverbrook. A great crowd of people gathered at the Minden Arena on Wednesday, Sept. 11 for a party for Judy Stevenson, with wrapped gifts from the Calorie Counter Group. Bradley Robinson from Toronto enjoyed a visit with his mother Florence last weekend.

On Sept. 7th at our Community Centre there was a large crowd present for a 25th Wedding party for Janice and Jack Shaw, and a great time was had by all. Congrat. to this happy couple.

Congratulations to the newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Cameron Monk, (Nee Linda (Liz) Janke) who were married Aug. 31st and will be living in Bobcaygeon.

Jean Lacey and I have been trying to track down our Rutherford information and so far have been to Dorset, Dwight, Bracebridge and also Minden, for information and not much success. We are looking for a Mrs. Rutherford, residence unknown, but about 70 years of age and buried in this area 1930-1934. Guess we will have to look some more.

C.N.I.B. volunteers will soon be out and hopefully will receive good response on their campaign.

Members and other ladies don't forget the Minden Women's Institute meeting at the Library Cultural Centre, Wed., Sept. 18 at 2. This time with a guest speaker from St. John's Ambulance.
